INFAMOUS.

They?

We heard yesterday of an infamons affair which occurred one day last week in this city, and which illustrates very forcibly how certain tellows who los around the courts, magistrates' offices and other such places without visible means of sustenance, manage to find money to pay for those necessaries of life that they cannot get otherwise. There lives in the outskirts of the town an industrious and respectable old negro woman who, with the aid of her grown up daughter, earns a livelihood by doing the washing for a large restaurant. A few days ago, the young woman got into a quarrei with a neighbor: also a negro washer-woman, and during the "debate which ensued," the two were arrested for disor-darly conduct by a relicement. On being derly conduct by a policeman. On being carried before the Recorder they were fined ten dollars each. The restaurateur, through her mother, paid the fine for the woman in his employ, and she was re-leased. She had hardly got on the sidewalk when she was arrested on a State's warrant for assault and battery, sworn out by some relative or friend of the other woman. She was carried before a magistrate and committed to the county jail for examination on the charge. All this was well enough and in the due as to where she had been she told the gen tleman that just after she had reached home the day before, two men came out her person thoroughly—even to her stockings and shoes. Finding that she spoke the truth, they gave the poor old creature a kink and told her to begone. Old, weary with the long walk, and bruised by their boots, she managed to drag herself off. Being ignorant of the locality, she had great difficulty in finding her way, and it was nearly or quite midnight before she got home.

This is the story as related to us by one This is the story as related to us by one who is thoroughly acquainted with the tacts, and whose veracity no one can doubt, and on hearing it, a question or two were suggested to us. Who were these men who were asthoroughly posted in the forms of an arrest as practiced by the "special deputies?" How were they so well posted as to the fact of her having paid a fine for her daughter—or of a fine having been paid?

Of course, no one who knows anything of the officers of the police, or indeed of the force in general, can think for a mo-ment that they had any knowledge of the gransaction, and the idea is immediately juggested to one who, like the reporter. has occasion to frequent the police office and the justices' courts, that this and similar outrages that are never heard of but are perpetrated daily, are committed by a class who have for years infested them, serving under the Radical regime in the ities of professional jurymen, special deputies, etc. We hope that the matter will be taken in hand by the police and

IMPORTANT ARREST.

Sequel to the Horrible Flatboat Murder Reported a few Days Ago.

The public will remember that some te-days or two weeks ago, we gave the par-ticulars of a horrible affair on board a lumber raft going down the river, which two men were killed and pitch overboard by two others. The killing, it was alleged, was in self-defense, but the perpetrators, fearful of the consequences, left the raft at this place and made their escape. An account of the affair and a de scription of the parties was forwarded to headquarters of the police force here, in mediately after the occurrence, and the detectives have been on the keen lookout for them. Up to Saturday the search was for them. Up to Saturday the search was fruitless, but on that evening a couple of men, answering to the description given, went to the Commercial hotel and registered as Patrick Murphy and Daniel O'Neil. The fact was soon communicated to the police, and a watch was put upon them. During the evening they quietly left the hotel and went to the crib of John Britton (a cellar near the corner of Jefferson and

and went to the crib of John Britton (a cellar near the corner of Jefferson and Front). The detectives, certain now that, whether the two were the men they were searching after or not, they were not "all right," surrounded Britton's premises about daylight yesterday morning and raided it. O'Nefl was caught before he could get out, but Murphy ran out the back door, and in some manner got to the top of the building, where he was captured. The men were terribly frightened, and could or would not give no account of themselves. On their persons were found a lot of gambling devices, dice, thimbles, a cloth for a "lay out," etc. They were taken to the Adams street station house, where they were locked up to await an axamination this morning. examination this morning.

The manage announce that they have effected a re-engagement for a few nights only, of the popular Harry and Rose Watkins, whose Irish delinations. engagement for a tew hights only of the popular Harry and Bose Watkins, whose Irish delineations gave so much pleasure to [Memphis audiences last week. Tonight the new and already popular Irish drama "Set in Gold" will be given, of which the New Orleans Picayans speaks in the following terms: "The entertainment at the theatre last night was anjoyed by a large and appreciative audience, who, judging from their applause, fully concurred with us in the opinion that "Set in Gold" is one of the finest plays of the dramatic season. There is just enough of the sensation about it to give to it the relish of romance, while our tenderest sympathies are enlisted in behalf of the youth and, maiden who are realizing the prophecy that the course of Gantt. The motion being on the part of realizing the prophecy that the course of "true love never did run smooth," But ment for several days before announcing by far the finest charactez in the piece is that sustained by Mr. Watkins. The Miser becomes no creature of the imagination under his rendering, but a living veritable being, whose love of gold will drown every other sentiment and modrown every other sentiment and motive. It is very seldom that the modern drama affords us such instances of character delineation, and when once seen, they should be treasured and appreciated.

We have said this much of the principal character, not that we think Mrs. Watkins' Biddy will suffer any by comparison. It is one of those gems of frish character which can only be discerned when boder the inspiration of an artist's when boder the inspiration of an artist's genius. Such it derives from Mrs. Wat-kins—genial, kindly and pleasant, she throws the sunlight of her happy, kindly manner on everything she touches."

BASE BALL.-On Wednesday next, day

quently, come off at the well-known and popular recort, james' Park, to-day. Every arrangement for a delightful day have been made, and we hope that every-body who can spare a few hours will go out there. In addition to seeing one of the prettiest sights in the world—a great band of handsome, amiling children, and of contributing to a good cause—the weather has become so warm that a retreat like that afforded by the huge old. treat like that afforded by the huge old trees, now in full leaf, is something worth going a couple of miles for, of itself

The elegant low-pressure packet Rich-mond will pass down to-day at 5 p.m. for Vicksburg and New Orleans. The Rich-mond is, now a finer boat, it such a thing is possible than when the first facted or is possible, than when she first floated of the water, and has been thoroughly re-painted from stem to stern. Capt. Nat reen is master, and too well know he to need any praises as a careful, competent master, Luther T. Woods is her chief clerk and is assisted by John Langlois.

The Belie Lee will pass up on Tuesday wanter.

The Alaska is due from below. The Robert Burns, Capt. Frank Stein with A. F. Power in the office, leaves for Cincinnati on Tuesday.

The St. Francis leaves to-morrow for St.

Francis river. Tom Bowman is master. A late Evansville Courer says: "A dis-verse was granted in the Circuit Court last Saturday to Sarah Alice Crisholm, from her husband, William Hamilton Crisholm. Mr. Crisholm is a steamboat engineer who always goes by the name of Wm. Hamilton, and a day or two ago was win. Hamilton, and a day or two ago was circulating a petition to the local inspectors of Louisville and at the same time a petition to the city council of Evansville, to appoint him engineer of one of the fire engines. He obtained signatures by making different statements to different parties, and we doubt not some francise intended by the use of the primes. For the facts in the signature case we refer to Recorder William.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Time. advocates a sort of co-operative union between merchants and steamboat own erras. Among other things, he says: "As an extremely low estimate of the amount of freight delivered in Memphis from St. Louis, and all purchased by Memphis merchants or parties in the interior, may be set at 2000 tons per week, at a minimum rate of freight of twenty-five cents per hundred pounds, or five dollars per ton (it has often been fifty per cent, bigher) or $10,000 which the merchant has to pay. The same can be transported for figure cents per one hundred pounds, or ree dollars per ton—$6000—showing a tear gain to the merchant of $4000 on one week's business, or for a very short season of, say, forty weeks in the year, a gain of $160,000. These estimates are far below the amount of business done be-Base Ball.—On Wednesday next, day after to-morrow, the celebrated Red Stocking B B. club, of Cincinnati, will give our Green Stockings a turn, after having vanquished everything to the south of us. The game is to be played on the hace Course, and suitable arrangements have been made by the M. & C. R. R. for the transportation thither of all who wish to witness it, trains leaving st 1:45 and 2:30 for the grounds.

St. Peter's Picnic.—The picnic of the Sunday school children of St. Peter's church will, as we have announced frequently, come off at the well-known and popular resort, sames' Park, to-day, and the business to be done. The idea is to form companies composed tween the two cities, but will serve to give an idea of what can be done. The basts true the boats will not make the pro-directly themselves, but the amount net gain will accrue to merchants a not gain will accrue to merchants at points where such a system is inaugura-ted, and go into their pockets as a part of their yearly gains, and at the same time give them control of their own mesus of transportation. Such a system properly managed would go far toward butidin up the trade of any of our Southern cities adopting it. Memphis merchant
